2017-2018 Contributions Total $106,915

A tremendously successful year enabled the Guild to contribute a total of $106,915 to the GSO in support of music education. Outgoing President Linda Hiatt made the exciting announcement at the Guild's General Luncheon and final meeting of the year on Wednesday, May 16. Thanks to all who helped make it happen. Here are the details:

- Annual gift to GSO in support of Music Education, $65,000
 - GSO Concert Sponsorship, $5,000
- Support of GSO Education Programs (Elementary Concerts, Middle School Concerts, High School Partnership, Music at Midday, Preludes), $19,000
- Youth Orchestra Support (GSYO Production Assistant, GSYO Coaches Program, Needs Based Tuition; Scholarships: Sam Wilson, Eichorn/Armfield, Sullivan, Conductor's Award), $7,200
 - Annual Education Campaign, $7,065
 - GSO Endowment, $3,650

Total Guild Contribution to GSO, $85,800

Total Guild Support for Music Education, $106,915

Andrea Knupp Receives Golden Note Award

Congratulations to Andrea Knupp who was presented the Golden Note Award on May 16th. The Golden Note Award was established in 1979 to honor a Guild member who has made an outstanding contribution to the Guild and community. Our recipient has certainly done that over her years in the Guild.

Andrea joined the Guild in 2005 and has been an ever present member for music education and leadership for the Guild since that time. Soon after she joined, she began working to further promote our education programs, working on the Long Range Planning Committee to help develop the High School Partnership. She then chaired the High School Partnership program to make sure that it was implemented. She has chaired both the Elementary and Middle School Concerts, a large volunteer undertaking. Then she served as Vice President of Education for two years. Andrea was the President of the Guild for the 2015-16 year.

But, education and leadership has not been her only focus in the Guild. She co-chaired the Homes Tour, worked on many Nominating and Long Range Committees

Message from the President

LINDA HIATT

This is not a goodbye, my darling, this is a thank you. Thank you for coming into my life and giving me joy, thank you for loving me and receiving my love in return. Thank you for the memories I will cherish forever.

--Anonymous

Always a symphony, never a solo. We created, conducted and played a lovely symphony this year. From our first movement (brisk and lively!) in the fall with Feast and Follies and middle school concerts to our second movement in late fall/early winter (slow and lyrical!) of simply socials and membership meetings to our third movement (dancy!) of Let's Get Shamrocked, our 40th elementary school concerts, a hugely successful Super Sale and Love and Music Tennis Tournament. Whew! Not to mention intermissions of luncheons, meetings, fellowship, good times and laughter in between. And our fourth and final movement (rollicking!) on May 16 when I presented a check on your behalf to Lisa Crawford in the amount of $65,000, bringing our total orchestra support for 2017-2018 to $106,915.

This is the symphony we created together. None of us could have done it alone—solos are beautiful and appreciated and resonate more richly in the context of the total symphony.

Well, here we are. It's time for me to exit right and go back to "civilian" life! Every president says it, and I am no exception—I could not have served in this role without the support of my family and all of you. All our sponsors, everyone who came to a fundraiser, a membership meeting, a luncheon, a board or committee meeting, or who answered yes when asked to step up. This symphony belongs to you. Thank you for allowing me to play a small part in it with you.

Best,

Linda

and served as the Programs Chair for the Guild. In addition, she has served on several committees for the Presentation Ball and she just finished serving as one of the chairs for the 2018 Super Sale.

What brought Andrea to the Guild is her love for both music and education as she plays both the piano and violin. She taught pre-school and special needs pre-school children in Medway, Massachusetts for most of the 20 years she and her family lived there. She has a Bachelors and Masters degree in early childhood education and development from Michigan State University.

Andrea is very active in her church, Saint Francis Episcopal. She sings in the choir, works on the annual book sale and leads the Stephen Ministry Program, a support and listening trained group for people with life issues. She is also active with Family Services of the Piedmont and is a past President of the Greensboro Newcomers Club.

Andrea has been married to her husband, Ralph, for 37 years and they have three children: Sarah, Peter and Allison, and six grandchildren.

Thank you to Andrea for your many years of service to the Greensboro Symphony Guild.

2018 Annual Education Campaign has Started

The Guild's Education Campaign established in 2015 has continued to be a success in providing funds for additional music education needs in our community as identified by the GSO. The Education Campaign Committee of the Guild determines how these monies are distributed and all contributions go directly to the designated students and programs – the Guild has complete autonomy over these contributions.

Thank you to those members who donated to the campaign in 2017. The funds collected provided:

- New Violins for the Beginning Strings Program
- The "Side By Side" concert that took place on May 13, 2018 with 30 GSO musicians performing with 60 GSYO members: the culmination of a mentorship between the Symphony musicians and the student musicians from the Youth orchestra.

This year's Campaign will fund equally meaningful needs. It runs from May through December 2018 and we hope members will consider making a contribution. For your convenience, you can make a donation to the Campaign at the same time you renew your membership this spring by indicating it on the Membership renewal form. You may wish to make your donation in honor or in memory of someone special. The names of donors and honorees will be published in the Guild Horn each month through January 2019.

Please support this important campaign! 2018 Chairs Suzy Walker and Dale Stoehr thank you in advance.

Guild will Host Annual SOVA Roundtable on October 14

Representatives of the Guild will be hosting the SOVA Board of Directors meeting in Greensboro on May 22. The Guild SOVA Planning Committee has also been preparing for the 14th Annual SOVA Roundtable which will be hosted by our Guild and held in Greensboro in October.

SOVA (Southeastern Orchestra Volunteer Association), established in 2004, is a unique networking and support organization for symphony orchestra volunteer groups. SOVA participants exchange ideas and resources and offer orchestra volunteer strategies for success.

Please plan to attend the 14th Annual SOVA Roundtable in October, co-chaired by Frances Vinoski and Linda Hiatt. Come represent our wonderful, thriving Guild and show SOVA volunteers from the Southeast what Greensboro has to offer. Stay tuned for more details in upcoming Guild Horns and at future Guild meetings.

Names Debutantes

The Greensboro Symphony Guild has announced the names of the 23 young women who will make their debuts at the 41st annual Symphony Presentation Ball to be held December 28.

The Symphony Presentation Ball honors young women, with connections to the Greensboro area, who have made significant contributions to the communities in which they live. Mrs. Donald Gerard Lahey (Joanne) will serve as chair; Mrs. William Alvin Richardson (Donna) will serve as honorary chair; and Mr. Ralph Edward Knupp will serve as master of ceremonies.

Guild-sponsored activities include a Spring Mothers' Wine and Cheese, Spring Luncheon, Debutante Informal, Marshals' Tuxedo Fitting Evening, Family Covered Dish Picnic, Fall Tea, Dads' Barbecue, Holiday Tea, and Waltz Evening. The debutantes and their families will also enjoy "A Night at the Symphony" on September 22. In addition, the parents of the debutantes will host several parties in honor of their daughters.

The debutantes are:

Heartfelt Thanks from the Super Sale Team!

A huge Thank You to all of the members of the Guild for another great Super Sale! After months of work donating, moving, pricing, sorting and arranging, we have concluded another wonderful Guild event! We can't possibly have organized this fundraiser without the help of so many super volunteers! We are pleased to announce that Super Sale raised nearly $40,000 to support our education mission. THANK YOU!!!!

All of you worked together, each in your own way, to assure the success of our 2018 Super Sale! Whether you donated merchandise, an hour of your time or countless days, we appreciate all that you did!

A huge thank you to all of our Guild Sponsors and particularly our Super Sale sponsors – Revolution Mill, Bill Black Chevrolet and Home to Home: Moving Made Easy. We could not have reached our goals without the support of these valued sponsors.

Please know that the Super Sale donated clothing, housewares, children's items and furniture to local agencies for tornado relief. We hope to continue our gift of giving not only to the GSO but to our community at large.

It has been our pleasure to coordinate this wonderful event and to see the many gifts that all of you bring to making this so successful.

Love 'n Music Tennis Tournament — a Sellout Success!

The 2018 Love 'n Music Tennis Tournament, held on Thursday, May 3 at Star-mountain Forest Country Club was a sellout. After breakfast, registration and warm-up, 39 tennis players participated in doubles round robin play. Luncheon guests joined the tennis players and had a grand time chatting over lunch, viewing the latest styles from Simply Meg's modeled by Guild members and shopping with the vendors.

Approximately $7500 was raised to help promote and fund music education in the community. Sherri Hill and Brenda Macfadden, chairs of the event, wish to thank all the great sponsors who helped make it a huge success. They were:

Grand Slam Sponsors - GIA's, Harvey Wealth Management and NC Realtors

Champion Sponsors – Adapt First Investments, Olivia and Len Gillespie, Green Hides Leather, Holderness Plastic Surgery, KDI Designs, Andrea and Ralph Knupp, PNC Bank, Rosemary and Bob Reed, Simply Meg's, Susan Hunt Law.

The May 3rd Love 'n Music Tennis Tournament was a hit, raising $7500 to help promote and fund music education in the community. Here, Starmount Tennis Director Johan Gedlitschka and Tennis Pro Bill Simpson are shown with Guild members Nancye Milam, Brenda Macfadden, Sherri Hill, Joanne Lahey and Karen Hundgen.

Side-by-Side Concert Closes GSYO Year

Every spring, innumerable hours of practice come together in spectacular fashion. On Sunday, May 13, the three levels of the Greensboro Symphony Orchestra program concluded the school year with a memorable performance at Dana Auditorium. The Youth Camerata and Philharmonic began the program, showing an enthusiastic audience of friends, family and Guild members the impressive progress they've made since September. Immediately after, the GSYO took the stage for the highly anticipated Side-by-Side Concert made possible by donations to the 2017-18 Annual Education Campaign. The Side-by-Side concept afforded youth musicians the opportunity to perform beside 30 of their professional mentors from the GSO. It was remarkable to witness the students playing beside their adult mentors--an incredible learning experience for all!

Guild President Linda Hiatt addressed the audience prior to the concert, thanking the Guild for the generous donations that were "instrumental" in making this concert possible. Featured works included Vaughan Williams, Mendelssohn, Holst and Marquez. Sam Wilson Award winner Anna Sykes wowed the audience with a Mendelssohn Violin Concerto.

Enthusiasm in the crowd was palpable and will surely energize the students until September when they will audition for next year's Youth Orchestra. Many thanks to Youth Conductors Evan Feldman (GSYO), Colleen Chenail and Lee Richey (Youth Philharmonic) and Rachel Watson and Ryane Dunnagan (Youth Camerata).

Elementary Concerts feature animals, sharks, and tons of fun!

From the awe of original compositions to screams (and that's from the adults), the elementary concerts offered everything.*

To the delight of approximately 13,000 third and fourth graders, domestic dogs and invisible dogs pranced, sharks circled, and an extinct dinosaur invaded Grimsley Senior High School for a wonderful concert by our Greensboro Symphony Orchestra. This year marks the 40th anniversary of inception of the concerts. As always the symphony didn't disappoint. This wonderful event is what our organization is all about.

Thank you, Volunteers

Thank you to all the valuable volunteers in our membership. Without you, these concerts are not possible and would not go as smoothly. We appreciate you whether you worked one day or all. You helped make another year of the concerts a success. We look forward to 2019 already.

*With much gratitude,

40 Years of Elementary Concerts Celebrated

Creativity and a love of music, especially symphony music, were in abundance for those who attended the 40th Anniversary Celebration Luncheon of the Guild's Elementary School Concerts on March 23. The idea for the concerts began in 1977 with Guild members, Margaret Faison, Peggy Johnson and Judy Jolly. It became a reality with the cooperation and commitment of the Greensboro Symphony Orchestra personnel and staff, the school board, the school administration and teachers, a sponsor to pay for the buses and, of course, the Greensboro Symphony Guild members. What started out as an initiative for 5000 Greensboro students, has morphed into a major project. In 2018 we reached 13,000 Greensboro area students and 7,000 in Alamance, Randolph, and Rockingham counties.

Starting with the presentation of the concert's history by Darlene Young, the luncheon program featured inspirational testimonies from special guests Judge Angela Foster (daughter of Dr. Carl Foster, 1978 Team Member and Music Supervisor of Greensboro City Schools) and GSO Violist Caroline Jones who both spoke about how music had affected their lives. Music educator Sheryl Summerell added a visual presentation of the positive effects of music on children. Those present were treated to a Bert and Ernie show by puppeteers Sharon Sural and Louann Clarke. Sally Carmichael, 1978 Elementary Concerts Chair, capped off the day by singing a delightful original parody titled "Get Me to the Bus on Time".

It is amazing that all the groups who initiated these concerts have remained committed through the years. We thank those who came to celebrate with us including 17 of the original Guild committee members and many city and school officials.

Thank You for the Fantastic Support

Our grateful appreciation goes to those many individuals, especially to Mary Fran Schickedantz and Kristie Smith, who brought about the amazing recognition luncheon of the 40th Anniversary of our Elementary School Concerts held at Greensboro Country Club on March 23. We experienced fantastic support from our Guild members, the GSO staff, and school administrators. Special thanks to the program participants who brought back history, laughter, and fond memories. What fun to see that Bert and Ernie are still at it!

Finally, we are truly grateful to our anonymous luncheon benefactor, and to those many individuals who made donations in support of the Elementary School Concerts. Their names are listed below.

Kennedy Center Picks Guilford Schools for National Arts Honor

Excerpt from article by Jessica Pounds, Greensboro News & Record, April 9, 2018

The Guilford County Board of Education is the winner of the 30th annual Kennedy Center and National School Boards Association award, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington announced Monday. The award honors just one school board in the nation per year.

The Center praised the district for working to evaluate the impact of its approach to the arts and for allocating a “significant portion” of the district budget to the arts “despite economic setbacks.”

The district spent about $23 million, or 3.7 percent of its 2016-17 school year budget, on the arts, said the district’s fine arts director, Nathan Street.

The award honors the 2017 school board: Alan Duncan, Darlene Garrett, T.

Dianne Bellamy-Small, Wes Cashwell, Byron Gladden, Deena Hayes-Greene, Anita Sharpe, Pat Tillman and Linda Welborn. The board plans to put the award’s $10,000 prize toward arts education.

A national review panel selects the winner from nominees from across the country. To qualify, school boards must demonstrate support for four of the five core disciplines in arts education programs: visual arts, music, theater, dance and media arts, and instruction and programs must be available for all students throughout the district.

Mario Rossero, the vice president of education for the Kennedy Center, said the honor looks at the level of support, strategies and policies a district uses. There was one factor, he said, that put the Guilford County Board of Education ahead when it came to selecting a winner:

the arts master plan that Street and others debuted in 2017.

“It was really their comprehensive strategy that made them a very clear choice,” he said. Many school districts have great arts programs, he said, but most don’t have a detailed plan of what they want to do to improve and grow, or how they’ll accomplish it.

Guilford County Schools makes sure all third, fourth and seventh-grade students attend the symphony and all fifth-graders experience the opera, according to the Center. Artists-in-residence provided by the district teach history through art in fourth-grade classrooms.

“I think our winning the grant really demonstrated to me that we were in a place where now we can really move at lightning speed and get a lot more recognition,” Street said.
